

there is a name
don't remember my first name my last name

ganyamatopé

that comes before my first name after my last name

then after that more names dambachirashwa

moyo chirandu

then after that no names don't remember my age remember the ages

don't remember how i look remember how

we look alike

don't remember my words remember the disturbing bark of the familiar tree

musandifunga

rooted to earth reasons

why seeds don't decay
though the shell
is eaten away

don't remember me
remember

we are nature
pasichigaté

so
don't remember me
remember to remember

what seemed long forgotten

don't remember this moment in time
in time

swim from these shallow waters

to deep sleep

don't follow me

don't look for me

find me
in a place in time

oh well
in a place in time
