

Click to add text

Vet Student Identity: A Collage of Diversity

Dr. Paul Andrew Eynon BVMS
PGCAP F(RET) MRCVS

University
of Glasgow

University Lecturer – SA Primary Care
Practice & Clinical Skills
Scottish SPCA – Core Surgical Lead
Deputy Chief Adviser – BVMS Programme
Assessment Lead – Professional Phase

“A veterinary student”

Paolozzi, Sir Eduardo, 1960

- What does a ‘typical’ vet student look like today?
- Through the admissions process and working with undergraduates – are we diverse and does this translate through into the wider profession?
- In this digital age with selfies and more recently Zoom, can/does this aid in the development of a student’s sense of identity?

FIG. 85.—A VETERINARY STUDENT

Sir Eduardo Paolozzi 1960

University
of Glasgow

PaulAndrew.Eynon@glasgow.ac.uk

